OVER HALF CENTURY OF SERVICE WHERE NEEDED THURSDAY, OCTOBER 12, 1961

Two Killers

Modern living in the United States is burdened with two heavy killers and they are often not recognized by many Americans. The first killer we have in mind is the "tension" which is caused by more people than the land, high tension, and high-pressure living, burning the candle at both ends, so to speak, is responsible for the rapidly increasing heart attack death rate and for strokes, which are becoming increasingly common. Another killer is over-eating, and the consumption of the wrong kind of food, especially grease. We in the United States enjoy such an abundance of food that we more frequently kill ourselves by over-eating than some nations which with much less in the way of natural riches suffer from under-nourishment. Grease is especially hard to digest and in many sections of our country—especially in the South—grease is consumed in quantities which are certainly formidable. Therefore, as an amateur doctor, we will suggest to our readers that they slow up their pace of life and adjust their eating habits to more sensible ones—and live a longer, healthier and happier life.

The Tenth Month

October, the tenth month of the year, is in some ways the most beautiful of the year. It is always a month of cooling weather, and usually the skies are clear and the air dry. Rainfall is far less in October than in the summer months which bring down rain and fog and show of the fall and the season dies. It is a colorful display. When October arrives, also, we are in the last fourth of the year, and are only a few weeks away from Christmas! Winter is just around the corner, too, and with Thanksgiving and the shorter days and shopping to be done in the last weeks of the year the day seem to pass faster and faster. So this is the time to do your holiday shopping. This is the time to mail large parcels overseas for men in the service. This is the time to get ready for the year-end rush, which always over-takes us. What can be done ahead of time in October and November, will make the Christmas season happier more enjoyable and more meaningful.

Fire Prevention Week

It is appropriate that the observance of National Fire Prevention Week comes during the first of October when many people are faced with the necessity of heating their homes again after the summer months. It is during this period that many fires occur, due to faulty heating systems and unsafe furnaces and chimneys. To call the public's attention to the danger of such tragedies, National Fire Prevention Week is set aside from October 8 through October 14 this year. Observance of this week is also intended to remind citizens of the many deaths and huge property losses, which result each year from carelessness in the use of fire, and to urge all readers to make a resolution to express extreme care to prevent tragedies resulting from fires in this community. A little thought about this will pay dividends and possibly prevent unnecessary deaths. Carefulness in the woods at this time of year will also save many millions of dollars worth of timber, which is consumed by forest fires every year. When one realizes that several fires in the United States burn every hour, the seriousness of Fire Prevention Week will be appreciated. Too often only those who have experienced a fire appreciate the warning issued every year at about this time, and we hope readers in this community will concern themselves with this problem during Fire Prevention Week.

The Methodist evangelistic advance begins in the Statesboro Methodist Church Sunday morning, October 14 and will continue through the following Sunday. Dr. Taves comes from a long line of seafaring folk of the Chesapeake Bay country. He spent his early youth at sea, but the call of the ministry was stronger than the call of the sea, and at the age of twenty he left his ship to follow the Galleon.

Traveling Through Georgia I've Been Thinking...

Factory Shoals
By Glenn McCullough
Among the peculiar distinctions held by a fascinating ruin down in Douglas County is its inaccessibility. The place is called Factory Shoals. It is situated in a beautiful natural setting where lazy Sweetwater Creek joins the energetic Chattahoochee River. Perhaps one of the delightful aspects of this spot is the fact that there aren't many people around... in fact there are none. The only noise, aside from the river rushing over the bedrock, is the shrill call of a wild bird, or the chattering of a squirrel or some other wildlife.

The last mile of this trip, of necessity, is on foot. Therefore, it appeals only to those hardy outdoor types seeking a new adventure in a short weekend trip from home. It is about five miles southeast of Lithia Springs, which is located on U.S. 78. Service stations are located in Lithia and Douglasville are familiar with the route and can give explicit directions to it. Bring a picnic basket. It is probably one of the most picturesque scenes in all of Georgia, and certainly one of the most unusual.

Standing there in the wilderness where the waters meet are the old walls, made of handmade brick, and another one enclosed the equipment and machinery of a yarn mill. The original building stood some three stories and part of the remaining ruins still reach that high. The only evidence left are these old brick walls and stone archways—nothing is left of the village which once contained 30 or 40 houses.

People who came from miles about to bring their wool and cotton to be spun and while they waited for this conversion, they lived in the old inn at Lithia where swimming, fishing and other activities, including croquet, were available.

This original factory was built about 1850 and even back then the Georgia governor was using his influence to bring new industry into the state! Governor Charles McDonald and the grandfathers of Senator Richard Russell, identified simply as Mr. Russell, were instrumental in getting the mill established there in the first place.

Well, it is like so many other buildings in Georgia, left victim to the torch of one General Sherman back in the great conflict and in spite of many efforts to revive it again, it never quite made the grade.

But it is still of an interesting study for the camera fan, and for the average person as well. It is a beautiful and restful spot. We already have a moment of quiet rest and meditation will help us to realize that our beautiful Georgia is a land of many advantages and benefits. Moments of silent reflection will give us a deep feeling of gratitude for God's manifold mercies. We have not desecrated all these blessings. They are all gifts of His grace.

Moreover, a monument of quietness will release us from the compulsion of always trying to get more and more. To rest and be thankful will give us great gladness with contentment.

PRAYER: Gracious Father, grant us grateful hearts. Open our eyes for the great gain to be ours in godliness with contentment. Amen.

TALES OUT OF SCHOOL

By Bernice McCullough, Director of Information, State Department of Education

WHAT ARE YOUR CHILDREN LEARNING ABOUT THE WORLD?—RUBY CROWE, Fulton county social science supervisor has headed a group that has just developed a state guide in social science. Its important for your children to know about the world.

Ignorance is dangerous. The new social science guide, published by the Department of Education, and the Our World Today series published by the Atlanta Journal will help your youngsters get a new view of the world they inhabit. Don't try to muzzle your teachers when they talk about controversial subjects. You may blight your child's future if you don't let him air his mind about things and give him a chance to find out the dangers and the possibilities of this planet on which he must dwell for the next half century or so. (Come along with it, how much do you know about the world and what's going on in it?)

DON'T MISS IT!—The Saturday Review now has a section on education. Read Sterling McMurrin's article on the state of education in this nation. It is the current of the year. League of Women Voters has done a sound analysis of the famous "chargeback" statement. Come by the Office of Information and get one if you want one, or send a stamped envelope.

WHY DO THEY DROP OUT?—Carrie May McElroy, president of Georgia's Visiting Teachers and now vice-president, is chairman of a very important group planning something that will interest you the holding power of Georgia schools. It's the drop-out problem. The NEA in making a 3-year study of this nationwide problem, too. Why do 100,000 children start to school in Georgia and fewer than 40,000 graduate 12 years later? Why do they vanish like ghosts on the night after Halloween? Many groups will get together at a conference next July to put together what they have found out about the problem. It is legal to rest you. U. S. Commissioner of Education Sterling McMurrin says that 1 1/2 million of the 10,800,000 students now enrolled in high schools will drop out before graduation. (Tallulah Bankhead says the school and deduct this from the amount due that school system. I would not ask a grant for any school because I think the public schools of this state provide opportunity for a child to get a good education. If his folks back him up in it.)

SOME OF THE BEST ARE WOMEN!—We have some mighty good school bus drivers in this state. About 200 of them are women. In fact, says a man who knows, some of the best ones are women. Our school bus drivers get an average of $1,456 a year, can't be paid less than $1,200 a year, or $100 a month for 12 months.

NEWS ABOUT PEOPLE YOU MAY KNOW—Jack Acree, former Cartersville superintendent, has made a fine, energetic beginning of his new job as executive secretary of the Georgia School Boards Association, of which the president is Wyck Knox, of Thomas.

Eleanor Pryor, state supervisor of the school lunch program, underwent surgery in late September at St. Joseph's in Atlanta. She is expected to be home in a few days. Her future teacher program, has been in Atlanta. Dr. E. E. Bush, Dooley superintendent, has been in Atlanta. Dr. E. E. Bush, Dooley superintendent, has been in Atlanta. Dr. E. E. Farm Facts

According to Francis E. Clark, U. S. Department of Agriculture microbiologist, earthworms are to be considered an indication of good soil fertility rather than of its cause.

Sharp differences of opinion exist, he says, concerning the relationship of earthworms to soil fertility. Some people insist that earthworms almost singlehandedly are responsible for good fertility. Clark notes in the USDA's Yearbook of Agriculture that earthworms have little to do with soil fertility. He says organic residues decayed by earthworms are poorer in nutrients than the original residues ingested.

The beneficial effects of earthworms on plant growth are largely those associated with improved aeration and improved drainage. They are important in mixing surface organic residues with the underlying soil.

Earthworms flourish best in well drained soils that contain abundant organic matter and a continuous supply of food. They may increase number millions per acre.

Disability Regulations For Vets

Sixty-five year old veterans with wartime service need only a ten percent disability based on medical evidence to qualify for a pension, Georgia Veterans Service Director Pete Wheeler stated this week.

The amount of the pension is determined by a scale based upon the veterans other income. A pension can also be denied if the veteran has substantial assets.

Married veterans drawing social security payments at the same time will not be penalized on the amount of their pension. If the social security and other income is less than $1,000 and $2,000 a year, a qualified married veteran will receive $75.00 a month pension.

Single veterans without dependents, however, are limited to $70.00 per month if their social security and other income is between $600 and $1,000 a year, and to only $40.00 per month if their income is between $1,200 and $1,800.

The law does, however, exempt from income tax the amount of social security payments which the veteran has contributed to the program himself. This normally means that several months pay before the social security payments count as income.

Veterans 60 through 64 years of age require a pension of at least 50 percent to qualify for a pension, and those 65 need a 60 percent disability.

THESE ROADS IGNORE FATHER TIME! Modern concrete will last 50 years and more!

When they give you concrete—they're giving you a first-class highway. Reports from state after state show that concrete pavements have outlasted other types 2 to 1. The new roads will do even better!

Fifty years from now, cars will still be rolling smoothly on this same concrete... and the same surface. (It won't have to be resurfaced 4 or 5 times.)

Concrete grows stronger with age—doubles in strength in 20 years. Other paving materials act just the opposite. Sun, rain, freezing can't hurt concrete.

That's why upkeep costs stay so low—up to 60% lower than for asphalt. Engineers build for your safety. Concrete means a skid-resistant pavement, and one that lets you see better at night. To learn more about how you can go first class on concrete highways, write for free new booklet.

Ga. Photobook Off the Press

TO FULFILL THE THOUSANDS OF REQUESTS EACH YEAR FROM SCHOOL CHILDREN FOR INFORMATION ON GEORGIA, THE GEORGIA STATE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE HAS JUST PUBLISHED A "STUDENT'S PHOTOBOOK OF GEORGIA" DESIGNED ESPECIALLY FOR STUDENTS AND TEACHERS.

The 28-page book contains more than 100 photographs covering Georgia's current and historic attractions. Eight pages are in full color.

This Photobook is being provided as an "at cost" educational service for the thousands of students seeking information on our State," said W. Cam Mitchell, president of the State Chamber.

Teachers who assign the book for class study, Mitchell said, may order quantities of 15 or more at 40 cents per copy. Single orders sell for 50 cents per copy, he said.

Sections of the book include famous landmarks, points of historic interest, agriculture, industry, famous churches, education, mountains, beaches, and things for which we are famous.

The low prices may be used in semi-shade in the upper half of the State. They are not suitable for our section.

Bluegrass is a good grass for lawns in the northern Piedmont, but not in Bulloch County. It will thrive better in semi-shade but will grow full sun. If plenty of moisture is provided.

Many home owners with a good summer lawn of Bermuda, Zoysia, or Centipede are content with a brown lawn during the winter months. A dormant lawn blends very well with deciduous trees and shrubs. It is difficult to have a fine green lawn in Georgia throughout the year.

Get the most out of your plants. Trees, shrubs, flowers and grasses should be planted to create a particular effect. It is rare when the yard or garden has the exact size, scale and shape that is desired.

By skillfully arranging plants and construction materials a garden can be made to appear smaller or larger than it actually is. It is easy to visualize form, size, color and texture in construction materials but these qualities are often not considered in plants. Texture is especially overlooked. Texture is important in planting design.

Good cotton insect control next year starts the day you finish picking this year's crop.

Your goal should be to reduce to as few possible the number of boll weevils that survive after harvest and go into hibernation. This best possible way to reach this weevil reproduction and cause the weevils to starve or starve after harvest in a weakened condition is to destroy the cotton stalks.

In addition to the insect control phase of stalk destruction, it will aid in soil conservation and future soil preparation.

To really be effective this early stalk destruction should be practiced by all the cotton growers in a given community or area.

Everyone interested in cotton production should urge all his friends and neighbors to join in this effort.
